

Nucleus Network hosts Clinical Research Excellence Conference - CRX08

The second Clinical Research Excellence Conference, CRX08, was held at the Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre in Queensland on Thursday 7 through to Saturday 9 August 2008.

The conference was hosted by the Queensland Clinical Trials Network Inc., The University of Melbourne's Faculty of Medicine, Dentistry and Health Sciences and Nucleus Network in association with National Health and Medical Research Council (NH&MRC), Association of Clinical Research Professionals (ACRP) and British Association of Research Quality Assurance (BARQA).

CRX08 is the pre-eminent conference for the Clinical Research industry across Australia in 2008. The meeting attracted over 300 attendees and initial feed back from participants has been very supportive and encouraging. Many were delighted to see indigenous health feature so prominently in the program, which was an initiative developed by the Scientific Program Committee specifically for the 2009 conference in Brisbane.

Nearly 50 renowned clinical research key identities participated in the two and a half day program including Professors Michael Good, Ian Frazer, Warwick Anderson and Peter Morley. Four international speakers provided a global perspective on clinical research.

This year, 12 abstract submissions were accepted for oral presentation. These presentations were built into the program and were well received by attendees. The program focus was around five distinct streams that appealed to a wide range of clinical research professionals, researchers, practitioners and people interested in this industry.
